

Judge Hounded for Years by Detectives.

Peter S. Grosscup. Who declared yesterday in Chicago that he would reconsider his announced intention of resigning in October if any one or any organization wished more time to investigate his public record.

CHANGES MIND.
GROSSCUP MAY STAY ON BENCH.
FEDERAL JUDGE SAYS HE WILL WELCOME INVESTIGATION.

Had Announced Forthcoming Resignation, but Now Willing to Stay in Office to Give Full Opportunity to Scan His Record.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—United States Judge Peter S. Grosscup, figuratively tied a string today to his forthcoming resignation from the bench by declaring that if any interest, organization or individual is now investigating his record and wants further time to cloud his public service by intimating that he is retiring under pressure, he will not tender his resignation to President Taft October 3, as he announced yesterday he would do.

Following the formal announcement yesterday by Judge Grosscup that he would resign from the Federal bench, he confirmed last night a report that he had been under surveillance for two years by some unfriendly agency whose motive he could not give. He said he had nothing to conceal from the public and that the shadowing did not cause him to resign. His motive was more personal and political freedom, he said.

It developed that the man who has directed this inquiry is Lawrence Ritchie, a former operator in the government secret service. He has done little else for two years. He or his agents during this period have dogged Judge Grosscup's every step.

So persistent was the pursuit that when the judge went abroad a year ago last spring, he was not allowed to go alone. A "shadow" is said to have followed him all the way to Europe and back. The agency that directed Ritchie's activities could not be named.

"Do you know whom Ritchie has been working for?" the judge was asked.

"I heard at one time that he was working for the government," replied the judge. "That, I believe, is untrue. I also heard that he was working for a magazine. That report, I also believe, is untrue. There is nothing either in my private or professional life that I am afraid of having investigated. I have nothing to conceal."

"How did you hear of Ritchie's work?"

Several of my close friends came to me and told me that Ritchie was threatening to write me up. I was told a long time ago that an eastern magazine was ready to begin a series of stories about me a year ago. The threats were never any stronger than that and were also brought to me by my friends to whom Ritchie had talked. I wouldn't know Ritchie if I saw him.

It developed during the day that Lawrence Ritchie was employed by a magazine published in New York.

JUDGE IS SHADOWED

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The announcement of the impending resignation of Judge Peter S. CANADIANS ON TIPTOE

Election Today to Settle Future.

Liberals and Conservatives Now Claiming Control of Parliament.

Quebec Looked on As Holding Deciding Votes in What Seems Close Race.

Reciprocity Opposed by Banks and Big Manufacturing Establishments.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

MONTREAL (Quebec), Sept. 20.—This election eve finds the Dominion of Canada more interested in itself and the whole world more interested in it than ever before.

Tomorrow will answer questions vital to the future of the Dominion, as deep concern to the United States shall the Laurier regime continue, and shall Canada put into effect the reciprocity agreement already ratified by the republic across the border?

The leaders of both sides express extreme confidence. The government papers assert that the Liberals will win by fifty majority, thus increasing their strength in the House of Commons by seven votes. The opposition papers claim an equal majority for the party of Leader Borden.

Observers who claim the opportunity for impartial survey of the situation say they expect the government to be returned with a reduced majority, their forecasts ranging from ten to thirty-five.

It is generally conceded that the province of Quebec holds the key to the situation. During the last election, the Conservatives and a third party, known as the Nationalists, as a result of which there is a contest for every seat.

The Nationalists party in Quebec has paid little attention to reciprocity. It has conducted its campaign upon opposition to the government's navigation programme and the record of the government in general. It has been led by Henri Bourassa, a former Liberal member of Parliament, who is not at this time a candidate. The Nationalists also have had the support of a number of French and English newspapers.

Upon the question whether this enthusiasm has been coined into votes against the government probably hangs the fate of Laurier's political future.

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT.

The Premier has declared himself thoroughly confident of winning, while H. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, says the prospects never looked brighter for a return of the Conservatives to power.

What makes the forecast of the result difficult is that many Liberals and Conservatives have deserted the party on the reciprocity issue. They have done this not because they have become apprehensive of the immediate results of reciprocity with the United States, should the agreement be ratified, but because they fear this would be a start toward a general letting down of the tariff bars in Canada. The manufacturing interests have come out almost as a unit against the agreement and have been supported by banking and financial interests in a considerable measure.

One of the strongest arguments the Liberals have had for the "annexation" cry has been the use by the Conservative press and speakers of words of "President Taft" uttered while advocating reciprocity in the United States.

"Canada is at the parting of the ways," and the "tie which binds Canada to the mother country is light and almost imperceptible."

HARD TO EXPLAIN.

No amount of explanations by Liberal orators that these words applied to the fiscal connection of Canada with Great Britain, and not to the political, has been able to destroy the impression created by the Conservatives, that the American government really had annexation in mind when it made the reciprocity proposals.

The Conservatives have also used, with what may prove telling effect, various editorial expressions, by American newspapers, that the annexation of Canada to the United States was desirable, as well as words to that effect used by public speakers.

The claims of the newspapers in border cities like Buffalo and Detroit, that these places would derive great benefit if reciprocity carried, have been used as arguments why Canadians should vote against reciprocity.

STATE BANK IN OHIO CLOSED.

COLUMBUS (O.) Sept. 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Bank Examiner Charles E. Dodge today closed the Orangeville Savings Bank of Orangeville, Ohio, because of insolvency.

Heavy losses recently sustained by the bank had so weakened it that it was held today in liquidation by its business to allow it to continue in business would mean greater loss to its depositors.

RUTHERFURD-MILLS UNITED IN VANDERBILT'S CHATEAU.

Assemblage of Notables Gather for Smart Wedding Long Expected—Visitor Has Narrow Escape from Serious Injury When Tight Hobble Skirt Trips and Throws Her—Chill and Religious Rites Both Observed.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

DEAUVILLE (France), Sept. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The wedding of Miss Margaret Rutherford and Ouden Mills was performed today in the private chapel of W. K. Vanderbilt's Chateau d'Orsay near Deauville, before a group of twenty friends and relatives.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, who had gone to Paris to complete the trousseau for her daughter's wedding, returned to Deauville yesterday on the midnight express, half of which was practically a Vanderbilt special, owing to the great number of friends and their servants. A special car was reserved for the Vanderbilts' friends and the chief station officials were waiting on the platform when Mrs. Vanderbilt's party arrived.

Lady Granard's hobble skirt nearly caused a tragedy when she attempted to enter the car, as the platform is on a level with the ground and there were two high steps to be made. Her ankles hampered Lady Granard, and her balance on the second step and fell back. She was caught by Frederick Vanderbilt.

She was dressed in a blue cloth tailor suit, trimmed with white fur and wore a black velvet hat with a superb sapphire brooch set in a cluster of diamonds and a diamond necklace.

NOTABLE GUESTS.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's guests in the private car were the Rev. J. B. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Whitlaw Reid, Mrs. Henry White, and Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills. Mrs. Cavendish Bentinck, Lord and Lady Granard, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vanderbilt, and William Iselin, all of whom Mrs. Vanderbilt received in the rooms of the Trouville Palace Hotel because the chateau was too small to accommodate the party. All motored from the station to Mr. Vanderbilt's chateau for tea, which was served in the garden as the weather was cold.

The small private chapel, where the ceremony was performed, has two stained glass windows, three centuries old in it.

The civil marriage, which is indispensable in France, was performed at 10 o'clock this morning at Mairie d'Orsay, near the Quai d'Orsay.

The witnesses were Lord Granard, Mrs. Sands, William Vanderbilt, and Whitlaw Reid. At first it was arranged that Lady Granard would also be a witness, but when the party arrived it was learned that husband and wife could not be witnesses at the same time, so Vanderbilt motored to fetch Whitlaw Reid.

FORTUNE IN GEMS.

The bride wore a blue tulle dress with plain trimming on the cuffs and lapels, a hat of blue cloth, matching the dress, low shoes of patent leather with gray suede toes, a lace shirtwaist and corset, pearl-pear earrings set in diamonds, a pearl necklace, a pearl brooch and brooch, and white gloves.

The women present wore $100,000 worth of jewels which contrasted oddly with the red-tiled floor and wicker chairs of the villa.

The religious ceremony was postponed on account of rain till the sky cleared at 12:40. The ceremony was private, and performed by the Rev. Mr. Morgan in the American church in Paris.

The small church was decorated with white roses, lilies and dahlias. The white and blue cushion, on which the couple knelt, was embroidered in gold by Mrs. Sands. There was only one bridesmaid, Miss B. Rutherford. The best man was William O'Donnell Iselin. The chapel was crowded, and many guests stood on the porch steps.

The wedding luncheon was served at the Chateau d'Orsay.

The newly-married couple left this afternoon at 3 o'clock, in a motor car, for the Chateau de Marborough's residence.

The Olynpic in crash; no lives are lost.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SOUTHAMPTON (Eng.) Sept. 20.—The great steamship Olynpic of the White Star line, which left Southampton shortly before noon today crowded with returning American tourists, lies tonight off Calshot Castle, at the entrance to Southampton water, with a gaping hole in her side as the result of a collision with the British protected cruiser Hawke.

Fortunately no lives were lost and of the 1000 or more passengers and crew of the vessel, none was injured.

The accident occurred a few miles from the spot where the American liner St. Paul, and the British cruiser Olynpic collided nearly four years ago, and as in the previous case, the warship came off second best. The extent of the damage to the liner, however, cannot be decided until it is docked.

The Olynpic left Southampton at 11:30 to pick up the continental passengers already had on board nearly 1700 persons, in addition to the crew. The first-cabin passengers were just answering the call to lunch when attention was attracted to the Hawke, which was undergoing steam trials.

SUDDEN SHOCK.

The warship, moving at great speed, followed the liner, but apparently was clear. Suddenly it swerved and before the passengers could realize what was happening, struck the liner on the starboard quarter near the stern, tearing through a section about forty feet in extent.

The miracle is that the Olynpic was not sunk as the Hawke is fitted with a ram especially designed to sink a vessel in spite of its watertight compartments. The liner's frame stood the shock well, and the watertight doors

Strike in Ireland Becomes Menace.

Freight Traffic Almost Completely Tied Up and Food Prices Soar.

Efforts Making to Involve the Welsh, Britons and Scots in Labor Troubles.

Increase in the Price of Beer in Austria Threatens the Peace of Empire.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

DUBLIN, Sept. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ireland has been plunged into a state of anarchy by the strike movement. Trade and industry are at a standstill over a large part of the country. The freight traffic is suspended on three of the four main railway systems and food supplies cannot get through. In Dublin, the prices of bacon, butter and other commodities are going up.

Importers are having a great opportunity, as the war has been so long, to be affected. How soon it will be affected nobody can tell. The strike movement has been a real and intelligent direction and the night as mischance may cause it to spread over the whole of Great Britain and Ireland.

A GENERAL STRIKE.

The National Executive Committee of the Amalgamated Society of Railway servants is sitting in Dublin to consider the propriety of calling for a strike of all its members in Ireland, England, Scotland and Wales.

The course of action was precipitated by the men on strike in Dublin who at a public meeting demanded a national railway strike.

The desperate state of affairs originated in an insignificant trade union dispute among a few carters, laborers and other employees of the timber merchants' industry. The cloud, no bigger than a man's hand, has now spread over the country. A union labor organizer, formerly an official of the English Union of Dock Laborers, and a leader in the recent union labor disputes in Belfast and Cork in the last two or three years, who is endeavoring to bring the various sections of workers into the organization he has founded in Ireland, invited the timber trade employees to co-operate. The timber merchants forbade the men to join this union. The men disregarded the wishes of their employers and were locked out. The dispute dragged on for a few weeks, attracting little attention until last Friday, when men in the freight receiving branch of the Great Southern Railway, in Dublin, struck because the company would not refuse to handle freight sent by the timber merchants.

IMMEDIATE FLARE UP.

The incident was like throwing a match into a heap of brushwood. There was an immediate flare-up. The staffs of the passenger trains left work Saturday and they were followed by the Locomotive Firemen, the Signal Men and the rest.

The situation is far worse than it was a month ago, when the National Railway strike was proclaimed in England. The Irish companies were able to continue regular service then, but this time there has been a complete breakdown of the service on the Great Southwestern Railway. Where attempts have been made to run trains, they have been attended by considerable risk. One signal man at Thurles refused to join in the strike and was fired at in his signal cabin. He fled for his life.

Everybody here is asking whether or not the English railway men will come out in sympathy with their Irish colleagues as the Irishmen came out in London when the strike was declared in England.

There is one element of good omen, however, in the situation. Few persons expect that the Executive Committee of the railway men's union, which contains only one Irishman, will ask the men of England to do what the Irish workers were asked to do in Dublin. The issue then was different from what it is now, a matter between the railways and the men themselves. This being so, it is expected that the Executive Committee will resort to every possible means to terminate the dispute amicably. A day at the most will show if it can succeed.

AUSTRIAN BREWERIES RAISE PRICE OF BEER.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

VIENNA, Sept. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Austrian Brewing Trust, having announced an increase in the price of beer, beginning tomorrow, 100 representatives of the restaurants and beerhouses throughout the empire met last night and gave expression to an indignant protest. The wrath of the retailers and consuming public is also more intense because, when the government beer tax comes into force, prices again will be raised.

It was decided at the meeting to petition the government to proceed against the beer trust. An appeal was also addressed to the public to rise against the latest raid on the pocket of the wage earners. Sunday's food riots already have produced an effect, as the ministry of railroads has cut in half the rates on vegetables, corn and fodder.

The popular agitation for cheaper food is spreading throughout the monarchy.

MAKE MOROCCO FRENCH COLONY

Paris Hears Spot Information
About Negotiations.

Consent of Treaty Powers
Earnestly Sought.

Germany Asked to Wink at the Scheme for Pay.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) It appears certain that the sovereign independence of Morocco as guaranteed by the United States and other powers signatory to the Algeiras treaty is doomed and this in the face of repeated assertions to the contrary when French troops were marching to Fez. France today admits that there will be nothing less than a complete protectorate over Morocco and that it is negotiating with Germany because it believes that to be the only power which will oppose the move, and not because Germany has a great or right to object than, for example, the United States.

POLITICAL LIBERTY.
It is understood here that Foreign Minister Weyland is authorizing to grant the French the right of political liberty in Morocco and also to accept commercial equality of all the powers under the French protectorate. It remains, however, to be decided what compensation is to be awarded to Germany for closing its eyes to the French grab.

Another and even more pressing question arises from the Madrid convention of 1880. That conference of the powers, including the United States, France, Germany, Austria, England, Italy, Russia, Spain, Holland, Belgium, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Portugal, accorded to each signatory the right to have in Morocco twelve natives directly protected and in addition an unlimited number of "agricultural associates" whose persons and property were not to be protected. Further any commercial concern of any signatory power, whether it had branches in Morocco or not, was to have the right to have two protected agents there. The number of such concerns were not limited. These three classes of protected natives were not amenable to local laws, but could be tried only in the consular court of the country by which they were protected.

GERMANY OBJECTS.
France now demands abolition of this protection and also of the consular courts. Germany is said to object on the ground that if it consented it would be handicapped in case the other powers refused to follow. In reply, France, it is understood, promises to seek the consent of the United States and the other signatory powers, but it wishes Germany's consent first and also the promise of that country to lend its influence in persuading the other powers to relinquish the rights accorded by the Madrid convention. If an agreement can be reached on the subject of the Madrid convention and the recompense due Germany for giving way to France, the troublesome poor powers will consent to the new main only to get the consent of the other powers to convert the sovereign state of Morocco into what will virtually be a French colony.

RALEY DAYS AT Y.W.C.A.
Today and Tomorrow for Greeting Visitors and Greeting of All Departments on Sunday Afternoon.

Next Sunday is ensemble day at the Young Women's Christian Association, when members of all departments, religious work, educational and physical training, will assemble in the association auditorium for a grand rally, before the opening of the fall and winter work. An inspiring address will be given by Rev. William H. Dyer, D.D., who will strike the keynote of the new year while attractive music will be rendered by the De Koven Male Quartette, Mrs. Edmund S. Shank, soprano, and Miss Edith Conde, contralto.

Added from various other classes, the religious work department is offering this year for the first time a systematic course of Bible study, covering a period of three years and especially planned for those women who would like to work toward a definite end. The diploma of the Bible department will be awarded on the completion of the prescribed course. This course is attracting much attention and the plan is being enthusiastically received. It includes both required and elective courses in fundamental and advanced subjects, and will be profitable for all who attempt it. Two popular courses under able instructors are offered—one on "Personal Development as Outlined by Jesus Christ," will be taught by Mrs. Mary C. Jones, and the other, "History of the Bible," by Mrs. J. H. Dyer.

Another course of special interest will be "Behaviors of Men and Women," a study of the Psalms, under the able leadership of Miss Agnes Mabel Taylor. These lessons will illustrate different methods of class study, and will give a keener appreciation of the musical and literary perfection of the Psalms.

An attractive series of Bible lectures will be given Tuesday evenings by Mrs. J. S. Norvell, dealing with the philosophy, psychology and spirituality of womanhood. Classes will open Oct. 1.

Today and tomorrow are special rally days for all departments, and from 10 o'clock a.m. to 1 o'clock p.m. women and girls are especially invited to come to the building, meet the teachers of the various classes, and make inquiry concerning the work, when opportunity for registration will be given.

Pacific Coast Gas Man Tells of Wonderful Process Lost to World
by Inventor's Demise.

OAKLAND, Sept. 26.—The loss to the world of a wonderful invention through the death of the inventor was revealed by John A. Britton, secretary of the Pacific Gas Association, at the meeting of that association today. Britton said that the inventor, through the use of aluminum, had made cloth waterproof. Britton described this waterproof cloth in order to protect motors and other gas appliances from moisture. Before he was able to secure the secret formula, the inventor died.

Britton said that gas companies should place an accurate valuation on their plants, in order to be prepared to answer public utilities commissions truthfully should the question of public ownership come up.

William Baughn of Los Angeles was the other speaker at the morning session.

FRESNO, Sept. 26.—After lingering between life and death for more than a month, Mrs. Kate Chaffin, wife of a rural mail carrier, died this morning at the family home near Fresno. On August 13 Mrs. Chaffin was in the back yard singing a chicken over a bonfire when, in turning hurriedly her skirt caught on fire and she was quickly a mass of flames. Neighbors heard her screams and ran to her assistance, extinguishing the flames by rolling her in the sand, but not until she had been terribly burned. Mrs. Chaffin was unconscious and while she lay in bed, when she was dressed by Dr. County of this city. When she regained consciousness, she declared she did not want medical attention, but would trust in God. The county physician called upon Mrs. Chaffin at various times, but she spurned medical attention and refused to be taken to the County Hospital.

She was a member of the Church of God. Five little children survive her.

TOO YOUNG TO KNOW.
Two Russian boys, both under 17 years, the sons of A. Frish, were the cause this morning of a fire that for a time threatened to wipe out an entire block in Russia town. The boys kindled a fire in the alley near a large barn owned by Andrew Sibe, and watched it creep to the barn. May projecting through a crack in the barn soon became a roaring furnace. A stiff wind was blowing and sparks from the barn fire flew to the roof of several dwellings. The fire was only kept from spreading over Russia town by the efficient work on the part of the fire department. The boys, when caught, admitted that they started the fire. Owing to their youth they will not be prosecuted.

SOCIALIST DEFiant.
George W. Lester, who was Socialist candidate for Mayor of Fresno at the last election and who claims that the city has no right by law to pass an ordinance compelling people to pay taxes on their dogs, was today arrested by Police Detective Goehring for refusing to pay license on his canine and refusing to permit the poundmaster to enter his yard and take the dogs to the city pound.

The warrant was issued by Police Judge Briggs at the instigation of John G. Lowry, poundmaster.

This makes the second time that Lester has been arrested on this charge. The first complaint was sworn out before Justice of the Peace Smith, but after hearing testimony in the case, Smith held that the defendant was not guilty of any crime, as he had a right to refuse the poundmaster admittance to his yard.

Lester appeared in court and pleaded not guilty. He says he will fight the case. He is an elderly man, according to neighbors in the vicinity of the Lester residence, the Socialist has at least twenty dogs.

Handsome Clubhouse for University Students.

TUCSON (Ariz.) Sept. 19.—Fred G. Hughes one of the best-known pioneers of Arizona, was killed Saturday by a lightning stroke at Greaterville, about forty miles southeast of Tucson. He had gone to the camp to do some work on mining claims. In the early evening he was sitting in the doorway of his cabin, watching the storm when a bolt tore through the roof and struck him to the floor. The only marks were slight discolorations above each eye.

Hughes had spent in Arizona forty-eight of the seventy-four years of his life, coming to the Southwest in 1853 as a member of the first California column. He was also known as "Old Fred" in Arizona. By birth, he had spent his youth in New York, and for ten years before coming to Arizona had drifted around among the "California mining camps. Here, after discharge from the army, he worked on the first American smelter in Arizona. He was a justice of the peace, later discovering the Greaterville placer fields, where he met his death. For much of his life he was a professional gambler, yet distinguished himself as a member of the Arizona legislature. He was a member of the Democratic party. He served as clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Pima county, Arizona, and was elected to the Legislature of Arizona.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL.
In 1879 he was president of the Legislative Council, a place he again filled four years later, and still again in 1897. Then he went under a cloud, owing to trouble with the Pioneer Society, of which he was a prominent member, and much of his time since has been spent in Mexico and in quiet mining operations. Members of a large surviving family, two sons reside in Los Angeles. He was a member of the United States and Arizona bar, and was a member of the Pima County Fair Association.

The Pima County Fair Association has about completed its plans for a fair to be held in Tucson October 24, 25 and 26. Mr. Freeman is president of the governing board. The fair will be a notable display of Arizona minerals will come from the mining department of the university. The first day of the Tucson school term showed a marked improvement on the 1400 pupils, under the charge of sixty-two teachers. It is probable that a clubhouse, to cost about $15,000, will be one of the improvements on the university grounds. A plan to this effect will be submitted to the undergraduate body at once, and is expected to have hearty support from the alumni and from local business interests.

Mrs. Mary Ellis, No. 1720 Central avenue, who conducts a place where babies may be left while the parents are at work, carried an 8-month-old child to the Central Police Station yesterday, and told the officers she believed it had either been abandoned or kidnapped and left in her care while the persons responsible remained unknown in society. The child was neatly dressed and wore on one finger a small ring with a red stone, and about its neck was suspended a gold cross with one oval and one round stone. Mrs. Ellis said a woman about 35 years of age left the child at her home two weeks ago and then went away with the case. One man who spoke with a foreign accent.

GENUINE CASE OF BUBONIC UNCOVERED AT STOCKTON

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
STOCKTON, Sept. 26.—County Health Officer Dr. William Friedberger and Superintendent of the County Hospital Dr. D. D. Dameron, after diagnosing the case of an Italian laborer on a ranch eighteen miles south of Stockton, today decided that the patient was suffering with bubonic plague. This marks the first case in San Joaquin county. The Federal authorities have been notified.

The patient, Angelo Bianchi, has been employed in this section several weeks. Dr. Dameron of the County Hospital performed an operation, removing two of the glands, which will be subjected to a microscopic test at once, and a guinea pig will be inoculated. Bianchi's temperature is 104 deg., and his condition is very critical.

County Health Officer Dr. Friedberger, discussing the case, says it is undoubtedly that of bubonic plague. How the case originated is puzzling the local officials, but they venture the opinion that a flea from an infected animal may have bitten the patient.

TO AVOID DISORDERS CONFERENCES ARE ON.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LONDON, Sept. 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Plans to prevent social disorder and to deal with it when it cannot be prevented form the subject of discussion, thought, and employers and employees are conferring daily as to means of averting strikes. Independent investigators are turning the spotlight on the laboring conditions of the men, women and children working in the various industries of London and the provincial centers. Farmers are also being urged to consider the position of view, holding that agriculture has been so neglected in Britain that "the soil has ceased to produce the food it ought to produce, while rural pauperism, in all lands the source of individual greatness and strength, has almost wholly disappeared."

Anglican Church is also aroused. "Despair prevails among the poorer laboring people," said the Bishop of Carlisle, addressing a diocesan congress. They offer twenty shillings ($3.40) the church must take up the cause of the poor and try to secure an improvement in their lot in respect. Our Christianity is out of touch with the world. The theological colleges send forth men steeped in caste feeling and unable to preach with persuasion and conviction. Frequently the theology of the man in the street is an orthodox in its foundations, but it is a variety of more advanced in its application to present-day problems than that of the man in the pulpit.

The bishop designate of Oxford, in a farwelling letter to the clergy and laity of the Birmingham diocese, declares that the prevailing social unrest is justified. He urges all Christians to make some effective contribution to the social and industrial reconstruction of the nation. "Only a loveless, unchristian, and unchristian society can defend itself by force against the need of reform."

Meanwhile Home Secretary Churchill is pushing on his scheme to enable the police to deal with the laboring emergencies without the aid of the military. He will form a police reserve whereby special constables will be recruited from the ranks of the military. WEEK'S STRONGEST RALLY.

Woman Suffrage Meeting at Blanchard Hall Tomorrow Expected to Be Great Success.

The most important woman suffrage meeting of the week is to be held at Blanchard Hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, to which only men have been invited. A poster announces that "the foremost orators of the southland will discuss the subject of political equality." Among the speakers to be Rev. Robert J. Burdette, Senator Lee C. Gates, Gen. Edward C. Bellows, Lewis R. Works, Rev. C. M. Reynolds, E. H. Harris and P. C. Conroy. The subject to be discussed by the Boys' Club of the Manual Arts High School; by Donald Hays, who will play the violin, and by Charles Farwell Edson, who will play the piano.

J. H. Francis, Superintendent of City Schools, has volunteered to tell the California Political Equality League, at Choral Hall, Saturday afternoon, what he thinks about the suffrage question. Mrs. O. P. Clark also will speak and a musical programme is being arranged by the leaders of the league. The inevitable suffrage tea will be served at the conclusion of the speaking.

At the noon meeting of the Votes for Women Club at its headquarters in the Merchants' Trust building yesterday, Mrs. William Fluke delivered a brief address in which she said that even though the amendment should not carry at the coming election, this fact would not retard the education and the advancement of women. She said that nothing can now stop the evolution of women and that it is only a question of time when universal suffrage will prevail.

A mass meeting of the suffragists is scheduled to be held from 2:30 o'clock to 5 p.m., Saturday at the Monterey road, South Pasadena. A supper is to be served to the guests and addresses are to be delivered by Miss Helen Todd Roy Jones, Prof. H. Harris and P. C. Conroy. Another meeting is to be held Saturday at the Odd Fellows' Hall in Glendale under the auspices of the Men's Equal Suffrage League, and Clifford Howard and Mrs. Cora Lewis are to address the audience.

At 8 o'clock tonight two meetings are to be held, one at the home of Mrs. John Martin, No. 949 Court circle, at which Andrew Park is to speak, and the other at the home of Miss L. Hall, No. 1954 Florida street, at which Charles Farwell Edson is to talk. Mrs. W. P. Cunningham is to address a meeting at the Bible Academy in Hollywood tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

At 10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon a meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Yarnell, No. 124 South Bonnie Brae street, and David Evans is to speak tomorrow afternoon at Glendale after the band concert.

LATEST NEWS FROM CHINA.
PEKING, Sept. 26.—(By A. P. Night Wire.) Chao Erh-Peng, military commander of Cheng Tu, reports that the insurgents have organized a posse of artillery and are numerically strong. As fast as one force is dispersed, others appear, he says. It is held here that the commander may be negotiating his victories and ignoring details. He also reports the capture of 3000 pieces of the rebel munitions, including cannon, rifles, swords, and other arms.

WOMAN IN QUANDARY.

Niles, "Kimmel," was escorted about the streets. He repeatedly pointed out landmarks and related former incidents which the townspeople said were correct.

"Kimmel," who says he disappeared thirteen years ago, and now returns after $5000 life insurance has been paid Mrs. Kimmel for his death, said he had no motive in returning other than love for his mother.

"I do not want to cheat anyone out of the $25,000 more life insurance which my relatives would receive if they could prove I am dead," said "Kimmel," "but I am not dead." "When I disappeared thirteen years ago undoubtedly my family did think I was dead. Seven years later my mother proved in court that there was evidence to show I was dead. One insurance company promptly paid her $5000, but another company holding a $25,000 policy appealed and said they would locate me. They did find me in jail. Then my mother heard of it, but she refused to change her position.

SAYS MOTHER KNEW HIM.
"Four years ago they brought us face to face in Auburn penitentiary. My mother appeared not to recognize me. While we were talking, the guards stepped aside and I whispered in my mother's ear, 'What am I to call you if not mother?' She looked at me in silence and then whispered 'What was I once call me mother?' 'That was an outburst of mother love which she could not suppress. Afterward she appeared to regret it. I wonder whether that impulse will reassert itself or whether, while acknowledged by my friends, I am forever to be disowned by my mother.'"

DOUBTS 'KIMMEL' STORY.
"He told me of one having a fight here with a man who is now prominent, but I find on investigation that no such fight occurred. What the object of this man is in masquerading as Kimmel, I do not know, but I am sure he is under no hallucination. He knows he is not Kimmel."

Several other residents, also expressed doubt as to the man being Kimmel. At the same time Mrs. Fox, who accepts "Kimmel" as a cousin, says she is convinced of his identity. Tattoo marks on his wrist and his recollection of various details of family history, she says, make it impossible that "Kimmel" is another man.

The interview today was, if anything, more dramatic than the former meeting between the two. "Earlier in the day the man had reiterated his claims to identify as Kimmel and had declared that if his mother wished to see him she would have to call on him.

When they came face to face he made the first advances and after he rebuff exclaimed: "How can you say any such thing, mother?"

SENTIMENT DIVIDED AT ARKANSAS CITY.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
ARKANSAS CITY (Ark.) Sept. 26.—Sentiment here still is divided in regard to the identification of the man who is trying to convince the citizens of Niles, Mich., that he is George A. Kimmel, formerly cashier of a bank here.

Several business men declared today they believed the man is Andrew G. White, who ten years ago worked for piano houses here. Recent pictures of "Kimmel" tally with the appearance of White, it is said.

Portland Exporting Firm Alleged to

From Stevedoring Concerns.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representatives of the Departments of Justice and Commerce and Labor are in Portland conducting a quiet investigation into reports recently in circulation to the effect that a number of the local exporters have been collecting alleged rebates of something like 40 per cent.

of the amount they pay the stevedor-ing firms for loading grain vessels.

The stevedores are given 30 cents a ton for loading a grain vessel and it has been claimed that they are obliged to return 10 cents a ton to several of the exporters.

The alleged action is held to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law which forbids the formation of combinations in restraint of trade. Rebating is expressly prohibited.

The exporters have contended that

12 cents a ton, or 40 per cent. represents the charge they make for trucking grain on the docks.

The identity of the government officials conducting the investigation is being withheld. It is declared that the stevedoring companies are regarded as having been parties to the reported transactions and are equally involved.

The Furniture Fashions of Today

as shown in the magnificent Display at Barker Bros.

IT affords us a great deal of pleasure to invite the public to view the magnificent furniture display in our windows this week, and which we can commend without presumption as one of the noteworthy features of the Fall Fashion Show. A great deal of thought and much time and effort have been expended to make this special display a credit to ourselves and our city. We believe that we are fully justified in the assertion that probably never in any establishment in the United States has a more beautiful, more artistic and more thoroughly representative exhibit been made than the one we invite you to view this week. In the groups in our different windows will be seen some of the finest creations within the achievement of the foremost furniture makers of the world—each a faultless representation of some classic period style or reproduction. Artistic floor coverings, and beautiful draperies, will be seen blending and harmonizing exquisitely with the different color schemes. And not the least important are some of the handsome creations in high class garden pottery the productions of the Barker Bros.' studios—designed for the exterior adornment of our beautiful Southern California homes.

Not only to view this beautiful window exhibit, but to visit our store within—do wander about at will through our many floors devoted to furniture of every character—to view the beautiful Art Furniture, Rich Tapestries, rare Oriental Rugs, wonderful carpets and floor coverings of domestic creation; to see the newest and handsomest draperies, upholstery, etc.—in a word, to inspect our store and stock from top to bottom—that is our invitation. The latch-string is out. Come!

DEFENSE OF THE WOOL VETO TO BE MADE BY MR. TAFT.

Most Important Speech of the President on His Present Tour Will Be Delivered at Grand Rapids Today. Is the First Executive Ever to Set Foot on the Shores of Lake Superior.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 20.—President Taft, the first President of the United States to set foot on the shores of Lake Superior, ended his two days' visit to the upper peninsula of Michigan today, and tonight is retracing his line of travel from the North. He is due in Grand Rapids early tomorrow morning and while there will deliver one of the most important speeches of the trip—a defense of the vetoes of the wool, free list and cotton tariff bills.

Mr. Taft steered clear of politics today, his principal address being an appeal for public support of the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France.

Mr. Taft listened to an old-fashioned Republican campaign speech from Representative Young, Senator Townsend, who has accompanied the President ever since he entered Michigan, also drifted into politics during the day, denouncing Mr. Taft's critics as belonging generally to a class of "selfish politicians."

IMMENSE THROG.
 It was in introducing President Taft to an immense throng in a Grand Rapids circus tent brought from Chicago for the occasion, that Representative Young made his political address. He referred to Mr. Taft as having taken office at a time when constructive work was needed, and not a tearing down.

"He has been wisely, prudently and consistently progressive," said Mr. Young. "He is the greatest living representative of genuine constructive progressiveness. On the other hand, there is a spurious progressiveness at which cynics laugh and angels weep."

Mr. Young praised the President for his veto of the statehood bills.

NOTED LECTURER SUFFERS AS MIND WEAKENS.

Thomas E. Sherman, son of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, committed to Agnew, Where It Is Hoped Reason May Be Restored. Had Tried to End Life.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Sept. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. Father Thomas E. Sherman, one of the most brilliant Jesuit lecturers in America, and a son of the late Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, who led the famous Union march from Atlanta to the sea in the Civil War, was committed to Agnew State Hospital for the insane today, after he had tried to take his own life with a revolver at the Los Gatos Novitiate this morning.

Father Sherman came West from Chicago less than a year ago, suffering from a most severe nervous breakdown. He believed that a change of surroundings would better his health.

During his stay on the Coast he has lectured in big audiences in most of the big cities on "Why I am a Catholic," and kindred subjects. He was accounted a brilliant scholar and speaker.

At the examination this afternoon, Father Sherman discussed his ailments rationally with the officials and doctors, agreeing that he would probably be benefited by treatment at the hospital. The Jesuits, it is understood, will pay for special treatment for him there.

Father Sherman has had an army record of his own. During the Spanish-American War he was chaplain of the Fourth Missouri Volunteers, and later of Battery A, an organization of society men of St. Louis. With the latter organization, he went to Porto Rico.

FAMOUS FABLE COME TRUE.

Golden Apple of the Gods Now Grown in the Owens River Country.

The fabled golden apple of Hesperides had nothing at all in size or color on the apples that Harry Loomis, proprietor of the Angelus, brought with him from the Owens Valley country, on his return from there yesterday morning.

They were of the Roman eBauty variety and were as large as a small cantaloupe, with a color as radiant as the red of carmine robes.

"They came from an orchard that has not been irrigated, pruned or looked after in four years," said Loomis, while he gazed at the fruit with awe.

"The property all around is being set to apples and it will not be long before Los Angeles is getting much of this kind of fruit much better

DETROIT STRIKE TO END.

Railway Company Submits Offer to Employees and Settlement Is in Sight.

DETROIT (Mich.) Sept. 20.—Following an hour's secret conference tonight between Judge Phelan, representing the striking employees, and the officials of the Detroit United Railway Company, Judge Phelan submitted to the officers of the employees' union a proposition for settlement made by the company. It is believed the strike will be settled before morning.

Fifteen hundred employees of the company went on strike this morning and no street cars are running in the city. The men get 22 1/2 and 35 cents an hour. They ask 35 and 50 cents an hour.

Last night the leaders of the street car men's union took headquarters in the Knights of Equity Hall, and as soon as crews finished their respective runs, they marched to the hall. At dawn today hundreds of the men, still wearing their uniforms, came marching in every direction towards the hall.

"Practically all the men were at the meeting this morning," said one of the men. "Only about fifty were absent. There was not a dissenting vote on the strike proposition."

State fair officials were out early, anxious and worried about the conditions at the fair grounds. With the big fair under way only two days, and with thousands of people expected, all the rest of the week, it means to them a great loss.

Out of the 2400 men employed by the company, 1700 are members of the union. The remaining 700 are men who have been employed by the company for less than ninety days and who are not entitled to membership until they have worked that length of time. The men, however, of time, the men assert, however, the 700 men will go out.

PINCHOT HOPES FOR ALASKA.

Former Chief Forester Predicts Much Favorable Legislation for Territory the Coming Year.

KATILLA (Alaska) Sept. 20.—Gifford Pinchot, former Chief Forester of the United States, took part last night in a public debate on conservation as affecting Alaska, with Judge Julius Thompson, Arthur Thompson and United States Commissioner Brinson. The hall was crowded, and interest was intense.

Judge Thompson opened the debate on the coal question, warning that the proposed leasing systems was all wrong and an experiment by the government for which Alaskans must suffer.

Mr. Pinchot defended the cancellation of the Cunningham claims, but declined to cite law supporting his position, saying he was not sufficiently posted as a lawyer to speak on that point.

He said he was not a lawyer, but a forester, and that he was not going to cite law, but facts.

He said he was not a lawyer, but a forester, and that he was not going to cite law, but facts.

Richie, but by at least two and possibly three other persons.

The private and professional life of Judge Grosscup has been the subject of inquiry practically ever since the famous oil case decision. The purpose of these inquiries has been revealed by but one of those who shadowed him. That man disappeared a month ago from a boarding-house in Los Angeles, Cal.

Those who have investigated the private or professional life of Judge Grosscup, as far as they are known, are:

Lawrence Richie, formerly a secret service operative for the government and now said to be working for an eastern magazine.

George H. Shoaf, a socialist magazine writer, who dropped out of sight a month ago in Los Angeles.

An investigator seen in Ohio and brought to Chicago by Shoaf.

A Chicago detective, whose name is known to two or three people now connected with the gambling investigation.

Judge Grosscup admitted today that he knew of the surveillance. Shoaf is supposed to have investigated Grosscup for the Appeal to Reason, a socialist publication in Grand, Kan.

The jurist gained the sum of socialists through his ruling in the Debs case.

Polytechnic High School Students at Long Beach Numbering Seven Hundred Must Hop It or Try to Crowd Into Lone Car—Members Ship Contest.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 20.—Mothers of the High School Parent-Teachers Association are up in arms over the inadequate street car facilities between the city and the High School. More than 700 students attend the new Polytechnic, and its location at sixteenth and Atlantic makes it necessary for more than 400 to use railway transportation.

Main line cars on American avenue do not stop near the school except to take on passengers for Los Angeles, and the burden of travel to and from the school rests with the willows local line, with a twenty-minute service, maximum capacity fifty passengers.

The mothers attended a meeting of the association at the High School today, and when they saw the mob of young people issue from the school and make tracks down the street for the lone car approaching, their indignation was aroused. A committee was appointed to wait on the Council and engage its services in securing adequate facilities.

WRONG TRAP: SUIT FOLLOWS.

DAMAGES CLAIMED FOR MIS-TAKE BY WORKMAN.

Scenic Railway Is Put Out of Business on Sunday When Santa Monica Workman Floods Transformers Instead of Sewer Main.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 20.—An echo of the recent mix-up whereby the Dragon Gorge and Hippodrome were put out of commission during the whole of a busy Sunday, was heard when the scenic railway people filed with the city their claim for $1220 damages. This is the sum they claimed to have lost through failure to be able to operate their riding device on the day in question. Damages to the electrical equipment will be fully as large.

The claim grew out of the flooding of a pit containing the electric transformers. The trap door to this pit was on a line with the sewer main, and when the workers from the city department of city street cleaning, who were engaged in the work of cleaning the sewer main, were pouring a flood into the transformers, which were promptly destroyed.

The bill for damages was addressed by the Council, which contended that it held no contract whereby it agreed to furnish either light or power to the scenic road. It is probable a new bill will be presented by the Edison company, whose transformers were destroyed.

CASH FOR TREASURY.

The Home Telephone Company has turned over $221 into the city treasury. This is the amount found to be due the city for percentages due on account of the franchise. When the franchise was granted it was with the understanding that after six years the company should pay to the city each year a certain percentage of the gross earnings. These were determined to have been $15,500 for the year just ended.

STREET-PAVING BIDS.

Bidders are invited to submit to the City Council next Monday night their proposals for the oil-gravel paving of Seventh street, from Nevada avenue to the city limit. The contract is expected to run to about $25,000. The improvement includes concrete curbs on either side of the street, and the laying of four inches of crushed rock will be put on and rolled before the oiling of the surface is undertaken. The next job of the city will be the paving of Montana avenue for two miles, from Seventh street to Sawtelle.

ANGELENO MAY SOLVE HALF-MILLION MYSTERY.

Says He Carried on Negotiations With Hunt and Kimmel for Return of Money in Big Express Robbery of Long Ago—His Identification of Niles (Mich.) Man May Reopen Famous Case—Has Records.

UPON CURTIS S. CHAPIN of Los Angeles may rest the clearing up of one of the greatest mysteries in the criminal annals of America. It may be within Chapin's power not only to refute a mother's word and identify Andrew J. White, released from the insane ward of the New York State penitentiary at Auburn, as George A. Kimmel of Niles, Mich., insured in the New York Life Insurance Company for $25,000, but to reopen the investigation of the theft of $400,000 from the Pacific Express Company in Omaha, ten years ago.

If White is identified as Kimmel, Alfred J. Hunt, a former officer of the Pacific Express Company, will probably be prosecuted on an embezzlement charge. The theft of nearly half a million dollars from the express company a decade ago resulted in the institution of a universal search for the criminals and the subsequent apprehension of Hunt by Chapin, then in the employ of the Pinkerton Detective Agency.

Chapin secured two confessions from Hunt, the first resulting in the return of $10,000 of the stolen money. Kimmel was made custodian of Hunt's money, when the express company official was at wit's end as to the safe disposal of his stealings.

Chapin, who is Chief Sebastian's executive secretary, last night declared that the only obstacle in the path of an action against Hunt at the present time is the Nebraska statute of limitations. The former Pinkerton detective, however, is of the opinion that Hunt's second confession leaves a loophole through which he can be prosecuted.

SECOND CONFESSION. Hunt, who has grown wealthy since his escape from the clutches of the law, is said by Chapin to have made his second confession after returning an additional sum of the stolen money.

Hunt was kept a prisoner by Chapin while the sensational express company robbery was being investigated, and the pair traveled together through many States.

The present Angeleno says that Hunt's second confession was secured in New Orleans after the former express company officer had been granted immunity from prosecution. The promise of immunity was made upon Hunt's declaration that he was willing to return the entire amount he had stolen.

Hunt became quite confidential while in New Orleans, says Chapin, and while in company with Chapin at a hotel in the southern metropolis declared he had "fooled them" in Omaha and had hidden $50,000.

He said that the money was where he could lay his hands on it when needed. Yesterday Mrs. Kimmel, in Niles, Mich., refused to identify the man White as her son, George, although several of his former associates professed to recognize him. Chapin declines until this publication he was the sole possessor of the facts about Hunt's second confession relative to the retention of the $50,000 and about the attack made upon Kimmel by Hunt and Kimmel's uncle, Frank Johnson, in a St. Louis hotel. Kimmel after his mysterious disappearance, the mystery factor of which the New York Life Insurance Company is now trying to solve by proving the ex-convict from Auburn to be Kimmel, met Hunt and Frank Johnson in St. Louis on appointment and there he was attacked following a disagreement over stolen funds and was left unconscious. After that meeting, Chapin lost trace of Kimmel.

DETECTIVE'S RECORD. Chapin's notes taken at the time of the investigation are thus: "In January of 1899, I began the investigation of the $400,000 steal from the Pacific Express Company in Omaha. The principals pushing the prosecution on the part of the express company, were George J. Gould and G. B. Erwin and Ernest Young, all prominent railroad men and all part owners in the Pacific Express Company. I arrested Andrew J. Hunt, obtained a confession from him, secured $10,000 in cash and $10,000 in stocks, and took his statement for the remainder that he had spent it in gambling and high living.

"Hunt had an old-time friend, George A. Kimmel, who had previously lived in Omaha, but who was at that time cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Arkansas and Merchants' Bank of Kansas City, Kan. Hunt was preparing to go into the grain business at Arkansas City, and Kimmel was holding the $10,000 for him for that purpose.

"Hunt and I repaired to Kansas after his arrest, and after an argument extending over several days it was agreed that the money would be returned if I would see Hunt released from the penitentiary. This I later did upon Hunt turning State's evidence.

"It was some months after this that Kimmel disappeared from Arkansas City. I was sent to Arkansas to investigate. I learned that Kimmel had cashed a check for $50 in Kansas City at the Midland Hotel, where he was supposed to be on a business trip.

"Frank Johnson, an uncle of Kimmel, was president of the Arkansas National Bank, but he lived in Niles City, Mich., where he was cashier of the First National Bank. Johnson for some reason best known to himself

JUST OUT OF JAIL, HE MAY RUN FOR COUNCIL.

PALLID and shuffling, with stumbling step and furtive eye, C. W. (Curly) Grow, unionite hornblower and convicted slagger, passed out yesterday through the open door of the County Jail, where the day ended for him a three months' sentence for assault on a free workman.

At the door to greet him was a little knot of unionites, boon pals of Grow's in the days before the four walls of a jail cell closed him round. The foremost of them was Claude Mars, participant in the murderous assault upon Edward Hoffman for which Grow was sentenced. Mars went to jail a little before his companion and completed his time—also three months—on the 15th inst.

The only missing member of the trio who struck down Hoffman and nearly beat him to death last September was C. F. Stevens, who was unfortunately detained from the reunion. Stevens is serving two years in San Quentin, having been convicted by a jury of assault with intent to commit murder. The evidence upon which this finding was made was identically that in the Mars and Grow cases, so that the latter had reason for the mutual congratulations overheard between them as their companions hurried them to a waiting automobile.

Common talk in unionite circles is that Grow will be put up by the union as a candidate for Council. He has been one of those most prominently identified with the furthering of union interests in Los Angeles, has held a number of offices in the local branch of the Ironworkers' Union and, up to the time of his own incarceration for the brutal beating of a non-union ironworker, was the man to whom jailed pickets and unionite strong-armed looked for bail and fine money and comfort during the long waiting in jail for jury trial.

The assault upon Hoffman and the consequences, among the bitterest recollections that Los Angeles union labor has to entertain, Hoffman was waylaid on his way from the Baker Iron Works to his home at Latin Station, knocked down and beaten into insensibility by four men.

Three of these were later positively identified by many residents of the neighborhood as Stevens, Mars and Grow, who were arrested. The most desperate efforts were made by union labor to get them off, for all three were looked upon as leaders by the local union. In addition to the local labor, attorneys, George Appell and J. Austin Lewis, of San Francisco, were engaged in their defense. Convictions were secured in all three jury trials, despite the sworn testimony of a dozen unionites, who made it plain that the men accused were elsewhere on September 18, the date of the assault.

Smooth and Slippery.

SINGS IN CHOIR; DRIVES VICTIMS TO BANKRUPTCY.

THREE notices, aggregating $1120, given on a contract involving 120 acres of land in Kern county that afterward turned out to be a swindle, were the cause of John P. Berg, an Anaheim ranchman, filing a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday.

A little more than three years ago a man, giving the name of Henry J. Martens, dropped into the Anaheim neighborhood. He joined the Anaheim church, sang bass in the choir, and was a constant attendant upon divine services. After he had sufficiently ingratiated himself into the good graces of the people he unfolded a Kern county land scheme. It is alleged so winning were his ways that he induced a number of the ranchers in that section to purchase tracts which he represented to be worth from $50 to $75 an acre.

The real estate, Berg and his wife executed three notes for $500, $500 and $120, respectively, and gave them to Martens. It is said that in several other instances the ranchers not only gave notes as part payment on the contracts, but also advanced money to Martens to bind the sale. There is a suit now pending in the Federal court for the recovery of a collection of a note for $2500 given by an Anaheim rancher in the same scheme.

After the real estate transactions were closed the notes given by Berg and his wife were transferred to Topeka Bank, and by that institution transferred to C. E. Gault, who appears in the case as an innocent purchaser.

Soon after the execution of the notes, and before anything in the shape of a provisional deed had been purchased, the land was leased upon and sold under a blanket mortgage and the investors had nothing left

MAY COME NEXT WEEK.

Plans Under Way for Entertainment of Secretary of Interior if He Consents to Stop.

Walter H. Fisher, Secretary of the Interior, is now in Yosemite, and will be in this city, the guest of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Chamber of Mines and Oil, the first of next week. Secretary Wiggins of the chamber came to indicate a change of plans, the former intention having been to visit the Grand Canyon before starting for Washington. Wiggins is doubtful about getting in communication with Fisher before he comes out of the valley Sunday.

In case he comes here, Secretary Fisher will be the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Chamber of Mines and Oil. Leaders in the oil industry are anxious to get his views in regard to the oil lands which have been withdrawn from entry and his ideas as to the details of the bill proposing the leasing system. The local men feel that some other form of bill would be more satisfactory, and are anxious to give the Secretary their views.

The Chamber of Commerce will make no plans for entertainment until the visit is more certain and some idea can be had of his wishes.

"JOHN DOE" IS FOUND.

But He's Dead. So Stock Legal Alias Can Continue in Service Just the Same.

"John Doe" is no longer the mysterious person whose real name is unknown to the officials of the law.

He is—or was—a brother of George J. Reigel, a butcher of Pomona, who was up before Justice Reeve yesterday on the charge of violating the pure food laws of California.

When he was arraigned, Justice Reeve read the complaint alleging that on a certain day "John Doe" Reigel did certain acts against the peace and dignity of the State of California.

"What is the name?" inquired Reigel.

"John Doe" Reigel," answered the obliging magistrate.

"Ach, that is a mistake; that is my brother who died about three weeks ago."

An inquiry elicited the fact that the accused Reigel did have a brother of that name, who died as was alleged.

Reigel is charged with having used sulphur dioxide in chopped meat as a preservative. He was released on his own recognizance, and will appear for a preliminary examination on Monday.

NO DOCTORS FOR HIM.

Man Whose Skull Is Believed to Be Fractured Relies on Christian Science in Receiving Hospital.

Though his skull was believed by police surgeons to have been fractured when he was thrown from a horse at Jefferson street and Grand avenue yesterday afternoon, James Cherry, No. 1621 West Thirty-sixth street, refused to be treated in the Receiving Hospital late yesterday afternoon, declaring that he is a believer in Christian Science.

Cherry was taken to the hospital, showing symptoms of a basal fracture of the skull such as often results fatally. He was conscious and steadfastly refused assistance, though told his condition was serious. Finally, he refused Dr. Keller Dr. Kay's responsibility should he die, Cherry wrote and signed the following note: "I release this hospital of all responsibility in this present instance. I am a believer in Christian Science."

BEATEN BY UNION PICKETS.

Six of Them Attack Man Employed at Iron Works as He Comes Off Duty.

Because he refused to join the labor union, William Junker, an employee of the Lily Iron Works at Eighteenth and Alameda streets, was attacked and brutally beaten by six pickets when he came off work at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. According to officials of the company the pickets have been hanging around there several days and threatening the employees.

At the time of the attack on Junker, Lieut. Krizan and four patrolmen were in the vicinity. They gave chase and Raymond Lahr, No. 437 California street; J. Laventhal, No. 145 South Flower street and William Allison, were arrested. Junker, however, was unable to identify them, and they were released.

CANNED DRAMA EXPLODES.

Fire in Moving Picture Theater Is Shut Out from View of Audience and Panic Is Averted.

As a red-hot Western drama was being shown on the screen of a moving picture theater at No. 108 North Main street last night, the film suddenly burst into flame with a detonation that was heard all over the house.

The doors of the fireproof operating-room were hastily closed, and Patrolman Whaling turned in an alarm by telephone. A large reel of film was destroyed before the fire was extinguished and it became necessary to change the programme.

PARIS EQUALED, VERDICT ON THIS FASHION SHOW.

Gay Multitudes Throng Streets of Los Angeles to See Wondrous Spectacles in Store Windows on Opening Night—A Brilliant Woman's Observations on the Broadway Exhibitions.

BY ALMA WHITTAKER.

I HAVE traveled in many countries, and seen most of the famous capitals of the world. I witnessed the "first performance of the Emotional Gown of 'Lacille' (Lady Duff Gordon) in London, and I have seen the famous mannequins of Paris paraded at the Grand Prix at Autouil; but never in any city, Paris not excepted, have I seen such a wonderful display of fashions, such admirable co-operation of all the great stores, as I have seen here in Los Angeles.

The window dressing is genuine art and the marvelous gowns are selected with exquisite taste by those responsible. There is, too, a delightful indifference to expense, a generous and unlimited display on all sides of the best that the world of fashion can produce, which makes Los Angeles equal to anything that can be seen in London, Paris, Vienna, Berlin or New York.

Los Grands Magasins de Louvre cannot begin to compare with the Los Angeles window dressers—indeed, although Paris may originate the styles, she is emphatically a long way behind in window dressing.

Even London supercedes Paris in this respect, for many of the famous stores in Regent Street, Oxford Street, Bond Street, Sloane Street, Westbourne Grove and the Brompton Road have brought absolute genius to bear upon the arrangement of their windows. But they do not act together as the Los Angeles stores do, so that while their window dressing leaves little to be desired, the fashion exhibits are intermittent and place each store having little independent shows in its various departments just within the mood of the season.

Whereas the great fashion show of Los Angeles in which all the stores sink their competitive zeal and unite in placing before their patrons the true and most costly examples of the latest and best of the world of dress has to offer, at the very beginning of the season, almost pulse to pulse with the rue de la Paix itself—why it is an achievement of which any great city might well be proud.

THE LATEST SHOW.

It is a superb and sumptuous exhibit—the epitome of luxurious elegance.

And after seeing it our hearts are ready to echo the famous old dictum that "It is better to be out of the world than out of the fashion."

Long before the curtain was due to rise on the wonderful tableaux last evening, the crowds had commenced to gather and a long line of waiting automobiles belated the presence of wealth and fashion in person. Coutiers seemed to be a rallying point for so many were intent upon beginning at the very beginning and building the whole lot of fashion centered down to the Great White Store.

And many a preliminary peep was secured by impatient enthusiasts, by peering under the discreet curtains. When at last the veils were lifted and the great windows flooded with light, the scene was one of resplendent beauty and quite took one's breath away.

It is easy to understand the fascination of pretty clothes. As one gazes in those alluring windows we could each picture ourselves in one of the gowns of these wonderful creations, and none of us so plain but we could conjure up the vision with a warm thrill of happy appreciation.

In every one of those long lines of majestic windows there was exhibited some sartorial creation of peculiar magnificence, wrought by the hand and eye of genius. The keynote of the fashion world seemed to be gorgeous simplicity, luxurious plainness. Straight clear-cut lines; chaste, but regal fringes; plain, but priceless embroideries; and cunningly introduced pieces of priceless lace in quaint little straight layers.

FAMED CREATORS.

Paquin, Drecoill, Polret, Beer, Agnes, Jouesou, Doucet were all represented—names to conjure with. Names that have been responsible for the adornment of queens, princesses, duchesses, countesses, great actresses, great beauties throughout the world.

Very Annoying.

JEWELER AUTO DESIGNER SUED FOR GROCERY BILL.

MRS. A. L. WAMPLER, the fair designer of the jeweled and ivory tinted brougham which is to be sold at public auction because she refuses to pay the manufacturers of the handsome glad wagon except on installments, is charged with "neglecting" to settle a $28 grocery bill of long standing. A complaint to that effect was filed in Justice Forbes' court yesterday.

Louis Baer, the plaintiff in the action, represents the International Protective Association and asserts that the bill against Mrs. Wampler was assigned to him by H. E. Long, member of a grocery firm, at Second street and Western avenue.

According to Long the attractive defendant trou-troued into his store on Western avenue several months ago and informed him that she wished to run a small grocery account.

As one gazed she was, indeed, one great yearning, the seductive lurement was almost more than could bear.

Closet-tran splendor, with all the more piquant touches from Elizabethan period have been upon, making of the present the very essence of seductive.

At the Boston store the resistance was a wonderful action in mauve and silver that one-think of presentations of art and coronations. It will attract eyes.

At the Villa de Paris a new ravishing gold lace hat of modern common design captivated the attention, but large shawl hats of extraordinary gown in rich brodered red and blue, which a quaint suggestion of medieval side, or rural courtiere.

At the Boston store the resistance was a wonderful action in mauve and silver that one-think of presentations of art and coronations. It will attract eyes.

At the New York store many remarkable gowns that one takes to differentiate, but perhaps one entirely draped in chenille caused the greater comment.

The Broadway, however, during the women, declined to omit the neglected men, and two of the gowns were devoted to this worthy end.

Blackstone's, the Fifth street store, had a window display of two inches long.

were all lavish and as one peered from window to window each vision seemed more beautiful and chattering than the last. The T. speaks of the many big windows detail, further on in this article.

Oh, the new fall gowns! I hear planned! And oh, the felt yearnings and critical surges escaped their hypnotized eyes. Every last one of us dreamed of trolly delights last night, I will warrant.

The Los Angeles stores are new to none, and their window dressers, whoever they be, are artists to very bones.

HAMBURGER'S WINDOWS.

Hamburger's great windows, with settings of solid mahogany, inlaid with precious woods, and superb French plate mirrors were enlivened by charming fountains playing behind latticed screens of dark gold brocade in the mode of Louis XV. The first in the fountain seemed by a New York sculptor, Alphonse Danneberg, sculpting here, presents a little girlish figure, who shrinks laughing by as she draws aside one should most first to show her face. The Charles effects in autumn foliage of softness to each scene.

The north window on Broadway, in browns, topaz and champagne, keynote of this window is a superb evening gown of lapis crepe made enriched by an overdraped, embroidered with fine beading in fine gold bullion thread, creating a design in the finest spider web, with brilliant caught within each net.

A second one in male crepe of chine with border and fine fringe of gold crystal and pearl beads ornamenting the overdress, had a striking bolero, solid incrustation of white pearls and rhine pebbles set in platinum. The overdress forms a V directly in the front to show last-night's of finest Brussels lace. The lower

STATE'S WITNESS GONE; DID SLEUTHS TAKE HIM?

Clerk in Los Angeles Hotel Who Identifies McNamara As Man Who Registered As Brice Disappears After Conference With Darrow's Agents At Albuquerque. District Attorney Believes He's Spirited to Chicago.

DIST. ATTY. FREDERICKS yesterday received a telegram from Albuquerque stating that D. K. Diekmann, a State witness, formerly clerk at the New Baltimore Hotel in this city, had been spirited to Chicago. The man is alleged to have left Albuquerque Tuesday night for the East. As soon as they are located they will be taken into custody.

Diekmann is regarded by the District Attorney's office as one of the most important witnesses for the prosecution, and for that reason he has been kept under surveillance. He left Los Angeles three weeks ago, and with the exception of a short time spent in Williams, Ariz., has lived in Albuquerque. He was employed in a restaurant.

Diekmann's testimony is looked upon as of the greatest import by Manager Mills of the Bureau National Detective Agency, in linking J. B. McNamara with the destruction of the Times Building. Diekmann was on duty at the New Baltimore Hotel, Fifth and Los Angeles streets, when it is alleged J. B. McNamara registered there under the nom de plume of J. B. Brice. That was September 23, 1916, two days prior to the destruction of the Times Building.

Several months after J. B. McNamara was arrested in Chicago by the Bureau agency, and later, when locked up in the County Jail here, he was positively identified by Diekmann as the man who had registered at the New Baltimore under the name of Brice. Diekmann is asserted, not only identified McNamara, but related to attaches of the Bureau agency, who accompanied him to the jail, certain mannerisms of Brice which correspond exactly with those of McNamara. Diekmann, it is understood, testified before the grand jury and his testimony was regarded as valuable that from the time he left Los Angeles, three weeks ago, he was kept under surveillance.

ON MONDAY dispatches were received at the District Attorney's office from the detective who had Diekmann under surveillance that agents were endeavoring to induce him to go to Chicago. A letter also arrived at the same day, telling of the methods employed by the union-labor sleuths to induce Diekmann to go East.

Tuesday other wires were received from the Albuquerque authorities, asking Dist. Atty. Fredericks what should be done to offset the efforts of the labor-union sleuths. Instructions were immediately sent, but an agent, it is alleged, got away with the money.

October 18. The territory proposed to be annexed lies north and east of the city and includes West Highland Park, Mt. Washington, York Valley, Annandale, Bairdstown and Belvedere.

Object to Ordinance. A petition signed by Architects Fernand Parmentier, H. M. Patterson and Hunt & Burnes was presented to the Council yesterday, protesting against the recent recommendation of the Legislation Committee to the Council that the building ordinance be so amended that in future no Portland cement which has not been stored at least twenty-eight days before being tested as to its efficiency may be used in buildings. The petition asserts that such a provision is too severe and that the ordinance be amended so that the price of Portland cement will be boosted to the detriment of every one who uses it.

Will Build Bridge. The Board of Public Works has advertised for bids for the proposed concrete arch bridge across Arroyo Seco at Avenue 24.

Comprehends the building of a fourteen-inch sewer to form an outlet for all the district south of Mt. Washington. The total estimated cost of the work is $51,250, of which the Los Angeles Railway has agreed to pay $15,480. It is estimated that it will take five months to complete the work.

City Hall Notes. The Police Commission yesterday refused to reinstate Charles E. Werts as a patrolman. Werts was discharged during the recent police department graft investigation.

The Boyle Heights Police Station is completed. At the next meeting of Police Commission plans will be made for an official opening of the new station.

A. W. Rutherford, who wants to operate a dance hall at No. 1801 South Main street, told the Police Commission yesterday that he had secured a license for the same.

The Southern Pacific yesterday advised the Board of Public Works that rather than wait for the Council to decide whether the E. F. Rosby spur track on Alameda street shall be built with the grooved girder rail or "T" rail, the company will lay the girder rail regardless of cost and trouble.

The Board of Public Works yesterday recommended that the Council transfer to the Board of Public Works a widening fund $37,324.43 to pay for the fifty-eight pieces of real estate bought last week in the Sunset Boulevard improvement district. The recommendation states that some time ago the Council set aside $25,875 for the same purpose. It is now desired that this amount be returned to the general fund.

A number of persons representing themselves as members of the Highland Park Improvement Association have protested to the Park Commission against the creation of an assessment district to purchase Piedmont Park, located on the boundary line between Highland Park and Garvanza.

The Board of Public Works has instructed the City Engineer to proceed with the widening of the street.

Everything is in readiness for the special annexation election tomorrow. There will be ninety-five voting precincts in the city in addition to those in the district to be annexed. The annexation voting booths will not be used.

REFUSE TO SIGN. SCHOOL SITE SUIT. Condemnation suits involving fifteen defendants represented by twelve lawyers were taken up by Judge Bordwell yesterday. Four of the claimants are being heard jointly before a jury, which will probably go to Santa Monica to view the land in dispute, which is sought by the Board of Education for a new high school site.

The city some time ago loaned $200,000 in bonds for the purchase of a site and the erection of the building. There was allotted $15,000 for the land, but the fifteen defendants refused to sign at the price offered.

WOMAN ARRESTED. FRAUD CHARGED TO HER. Delta E. Rawson, widely known as an expeditious divorcee, was yesterday held in $1500 bonds by Judge Hutton. She will remain under arrest until the suit of George H. Ryckman, who accuses the Rawson woman and John H. Harting of defrauding her in the sale of a rooming-house for $2100, is tried.

Rawson was taken in custody by Deputy Sheriff Henry. Judge Hutton was busy with naturalization applications, and while her attorneys arranged for her to appear, she remained in custody.

The defendant declined to make any statement. She wore a jaunty black sailor hat, white waist and dark skirt. As soon as the court accepted C. A. Wright and G. A. Rawson as her bondsmen, she hurried from the Courtroom.

John H. Harting, jointly accused with the Rawson woman, is still being sought by the authorities.

IS BLAMED FOR BITE. MAN SUED FOR DOG'S ACT. For turning loose, instead of killing, an alleged rabid dog, which is said to have afterward attacked and physically and mentally incapacitated 4-year-old Bernice Brown, Judge Marshall J. Traubner of Watts has been sued for $5000 damages.

The papers were filed yesterday. C. T. Bower, father of the alleged victim, appearing as plaintiff.

Bower asserts that his little daughter was set upon by the dog and that one of her arms was bitten and she was otherwise seriously injured. He claims that Jane Doe Lowe, owner of the dog, appeared to Traubner to dispose of the animal previous to the attack.

TEARS SOFTEN COURT. BOY PLACED ON PROBATION. "My boy, you are charged with having broken into a house, No. 343 South Main street, and taking clothing, a watch, fountain pen and $2.50."

Judge Wilbur yesterday to Frankie Kramer, in Juvenile Court, for the third time.

"It wasn't Main, it was Olive street," retorted the defendant, a weeping little fellow of 12 years. "And I didn't get all the stuff, either. The other fellows, who put me up to it, got all the stuff."

"How about that house on Hill street?" continued the court. "Routy got me to go in there and take beer bottles and bike wheels."

Frankie answered. "Frankie," said Judge Wilbur, "burgling is a serious offense. It means a year in the penitentiary, at least, for one person. I am going to send you to the reformatory until you are 21."

Frankie burst into tears. So did his mother. The boy pleaded for another chance and his sentence was modified to probation.

DRINK HIS DISEASE. THINK PATTON MAY CURE. The insane asylum at Patton as a cure for alcoholism was strongly recommended in Juvenile Court yesterday by Probation Officer Dodds. He told the court several habitual drinkers sent there at their own request were overcoming the craving and that cures would probably be effected.

This testimony was brought out when Rudolph Manna was arrested for having broken probation promises to shun liquor and provide for his family. Dodds said the defendant came to him while in an intoxicated condition and asked if it was impossible to resist the drink temptation.

"Drinking seems to be a disease with him," Dodds testified. "He tries to do right. He makes excellent progress as a piano builder and cutter, and when sober takes all his money to his wife. But every so often he will drink."

Deputy District Attorney McCartney said that he understood Patton was taxed to its capacity at present, and Judge Wilbur continued the case until it can be ascertained if room can be made there for Manna.

TO MAKE MAN OF HIM. COURT ORDERS ALIMONY. Even though a woman has an income of her own, she still is entitled to alimony on securing a divorce on sufficient grounds, according to the ruling yesterday of Judge Monroe in granting a divorce to an international divorcee from William A. Malmgren of the head of the Malmgren Packing Company.

Mrs. Malmgren offered proof of gross intemperance on the part of the defendant, who testified he had not been sober for three years, and that in consequence he was home but one week in three. His habits, she said, damaged his father to discontinue his business. Her income of $100 a month enabled her to support herself and child.

Louis Lichtenberger, a brother-in-law of the plaintiff, testified that on one occasion he found Malmgren in San Diego and that the defendant borrowed funds, telling him he was without funds and had been sleeping in woodpiles and barber shops. Similar testimony was given by Mrs. Lichtenberger, sister of Mrs. Malmgren.

"How much alimony do you ask?" inquired the court.

"None; my income will keep me and my child," said the plaintiff.

"The fact that you have an income is irrelevant; you should not have alimony," said Judge Monroe. "The court gives you $30 a month. Maybe this will induce the defendant to make a man of himself."

LIBERTY IMPORTANT. COURT REBUKES ATTORNEY. "A man's liberty is more important than civil court business. A lawyer should arrange to subordinate such business to the case of a man in jail awaiting trial."

Judge McCormick made this declaration yesterday.

DANGERS OF SKIN INFECTION

Lark in All Eruptions and Abrasions. Psoriasis Kills Germ Life and Heals Quickly.

Any abrasion of the skin, cut, boil, blister, rash or open sore spot is dangerous as a possible source of infection, leading to serious skin disease and should be treated promptly with Psoriasis, the antiseptic healing remedy.

Psoriasis readily shows its power to kill germ life by stopping all itching and causing the trouble to disappear. Psoriasis acts in this manner in any skin disorder, including all eczemas, acne, salt rheum, skin scales, psoriasis, seven-year itch, barber's itch and similar diseases. Every day brings evidence of its remarkable cures, extending all claims made for it. Minor afflictions, such as pimples, are quickly driven away.

All who have not yet tried Psoriasis should write for a free sample, sent by mail by the Emergency Laboratories, 25 West 25th St., New York, N. Y. Psoriasis costs 50 cents by The Owl Drug Co.'s Stores and all druggists.

Psoriasis Soap offers the healing medication of Psoriasis in milder form and tones and protects the skin while cleansing. Antiseptic. 25 cents at druggists.

Blair, when his attorney, W. H. Dehm, objected to the 27th inst., set by the court for a new trial when the jury reported a disagreement. Blair is accused of a statutory offense.

"I have several civil cases which will demand my attention at that time," said Dehm. "I would prefer a later date."

On being told his client's liberty was more important, the attorney replied that the defendant was willing to wait.

"That makes no difference," asserted the court. "If the defendant does not object, I will for him."

MUCH CONTENTMENT. GARBAGE CHARGES SWEEPING. Pronouncing the city, Charles Alexander and the Y. D. Reduction Committee in contempt of a court order by the alleged continuance of a garbage transfer station at Minerva and Butte streets, F. E. Moore yesterday filed an affidavit in the County Clerk's office to have the defendants brought into court.

It is complained by Moore that on April 24, last, Judge Bordwell decided that the transfer station is a nuisance, following objections raised by residents, and ordered that it be abolished, under penalty of the city days.

Moore avers that this order has been flagrantly disobeyed in that an immense cesspool remains and that the loading and unloading of wagons continually permeates the neighborhood with offensive odors.

It is alleged by the complainant that the Mayor and Board of Public Works have conspired with the defendants to re-establish the garbage station, and have agreed that the city shall pay $50,000 annually for the hauling of the refuse.

Moore sets forth that the only reason why the city does not build an incinerating plant is because it believes it would be a waste, as the garbage is feeding 15,000 hogs. Moore then reverts to his statement that $50,000 is being paid for the hauling of the refuse, despite the city's claim.

COURTHOUSE NOTES. BREVIETTES MISCELLANEOUS. ELEVENTH TIME. William J. McCandless, a former deputy constable, was sent to jail for the eleventh time yesterday, charged with failing to provide for Louise L. McCandless, who divorced him. Judge Monroe, in sentencing him, said he was behind the bars until he pays $30, representing two months' alimony.

VIA MARRIAGE ROUTE. Tom White, with the sanction of Judge Wilbur, yesterday afternoon was married to 15-year-old Lillian Ford, whose delinquency he was accused of having contributed to, and the charge against him was dropped. Attorney General Williams, assured the court that from all he could ascertain White was not a half-breed Jap, as has been alleged.

The defendant said he was born in Vancouver and that his mother was a French Canadian and his father an American, who fought for his country. Mrs. Ford said Lillian was devoted to him.

Society Women Use New Wrinkle Remover (From Society World.) Since the discovery that a solution of ordinary sand and water has a peculiar effect upon wrinkled skins, it has been learned that many prominent society women all over the country have used this simple home treatment with great success. The formula is: Powdered sand, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint. Use daily as a wash lotion.

The beneficial action of this wash is felt at once. There's an agreeable, refreshing sensation and feeling of exhilaration. The skin soon becomes firmer and more youthful looking, flabbiness and old wrinkles are immediately affected. No one need hesitate to get the ingredients at the drug store and make the remedy herself for there are no harmful effects whatever.

Why Most Shampoos Ruin the Hair We quote as follows from the Boston World on "Care of the Hair," by Mae Martza: "The reason for the scant, unattractive tresses of most women lies in the persistent use of injurious shampoos. Few realize that soap shampoos do more harm than good. The deadly alkali in soap is too strong for the hair, causing it to break and become lifeless. Such shampoos can only result fatally to the hair. Dry powders also are bad, as they clog the scalp pores and cause dandruff."

"A perfectly safe shampoo is made by dissolving a teaspoonful of cat-tar in a cup of hot water. This cleanses perfectly, dries quickly without streaking, and leaves the hair bright, fluffy and easy to do up. It is the surest preventive of baldness ever discovered."

10-cent contract, and 5000 barrels a day to the Standard. This is in excess of the company's contract with the Associated.

News Notes and Personal.
Ralph Garrison, a driller, employed by the Standard Oil Company in the Caspian field, was married yesterday to Miss Celia Spillacy, daughter of Simon Spillacy and niece of Col. Timothy Spillacy.

Samuel Jennings, secretary of the Le Blanc Oil Company, whose headquarters are at Oakland, spent a few days last week on the lease in the Maricopa field.

C. H. Eccleston, secretary of the El Camino Oil Company, came to Maricopa from Oakland last week and spent a few days on the company's lease on section 10, 11-23.

W. R. Jacobs, president and general manager of the Gato City Oil Company, has returned to Maricopa from Stockton where he spent the past three weeks looking after extensive business interests.

W. H. Hill and C. A. Barlow of Bakerville, the fathers of the road oil business in the northern fields, spent a few days last week looking over the Maricopa district.

Frank C. Baker, formerly an oil man of Maricopa, is now in that town on a visit from Vancouver, B. C. He reported that there are some good oil districts in the northern country.

The casing of the Consolidated Midway gusher on section 28 has been taken out and repairs made at the bottom of the well to prevent its sending up or choking. Well No. 2 on the same section has been cemented off at 2500 feet and will be opened about October 1. The company is in debt, but owns title to, or has leases on 5000 acres of good land and has oil well equipment of the best.

FOR THE FETE WEEK.

New Fashions in the Old-Fashioned Art of Cooking—Tails by Mrs. C. E. Pearce.

There are new fashions in baking and in kitchen utensils, as well as in fashion than good food. One of the most interesting events of the fashion show week will be the talks by Mrs. C. E. Pearce (domestic science director, T.W.C.A.) on the newest baking fashions, to be given Thursday and Saturday afternoon, 2 to 5, at Farmalee-Dohmann's store. On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Pearce will bake raised muffins, toast them, and pass samples to her audience. She will also take up breadmaking, and the shortening of bread dough for biscuits. Many other new points will be touched upon as Mrs. Pearce demonstrates the merits of "Globe A1" flour, the flour milled in Los Angeles.

The Farmalee-Dohmann windows are an interesting display of the new fashions in kitchenware and will doubtless attract as much attention from both men and women as the displays of fine clothes. All women are invited to hear the talks, which are free and well worth hearing when they come from Mrs. Pearce. A very unique index file for recipes has been gotten out by the Globe Mills, which is decidedly the newest fashion in cook books. The files are filled with Mrs. Pearce's recipes, each on a separate card filed under an index, a regular business file. You take out only the recipe you need at the time—so very convenient. These files will be given away.

That Dog-gone Spitz Pup Makes Good When the Hunky Bulldog Falls to Sleep Him.

W. E. Carruth, 18 years old, who lives in Santa Monica and is a solicitor for the Edison Electric Company here, doesn't like dogs. That dog he bears the same feeling toward him was shown yesterday when a bulldog fastened its teeth in the seat of Carruth's trousers and a short time later a Spitz dog attacked him from the opposite direction, taking, among other things, a second sample of his clothing. Carruth went to the Receiving Hospital.

TO HEAR BALDWIN APPEAL.

The Supreme Court of California, consisting of Chief Justice Beatty and Associate Justices Bloom, Angellotti, Shaw, Malvin, Lorigan and Henshaw, will sit in two departments for six days, beginning October 16. At that time about thirty cases will be disposed of. Among the important actions to command the attention of the court will be the appeal from the judgment of Superior Court Judge Rivas in the action brought by Beatrice Adila Baldwin-Turnbull, to be declared a legal heir of Elias J. ("Lucky") Baldwin. The records in this case are most voluminous, and oral argument will be heard.

BACK TO EL PASO.

Anthony Rountree, the Pullman porter, charged with smuggling two Chinese, who were taken from the train at Santa Barbara, have been removed to El Paso for hearing, the act complained of occurring in that jurisdiction. It is charged that Rountree concealed the Chinese in the closet, but they made so much noise touching the various buttons they found in the chamber that they were discovered. The Chinese were ordered deported from San Francisco yesterday.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamilton, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

Events in Local Society

Mrs. Charles Spencer Machin.

Formerly Miss Gertrude Frances Maas, who was married Tuesday afternoon, at the country home of the bride's parents, "Maas Villa," Alhambra.

It is good to see the society people returning to town. The prospects for a gay season begin to look really encouraging. Things are waking up a little at the country clubs, and the links begin to wear a more inhabited air. That delicate aspect is leaving the porches, and gay little parties of bridge players have begun to appear as of old.

Mrs. William F. Knight started the ball rolling when she gave her merry little luncheon party on the Annandale Country Club terrace, to which a dozen or so of guests were bidden. That porch lends itself for such functions admirably, and the Japanese decorator at Annandale is famous for his exquisite floral adornments.

This Japanese boy is becoming the center of quite a cult. In appearance he is dull and sleepy looking, and no one would suspect him of possessing such an artistic soul. But he has the curly touch that makes the most homely-looking bunch of greenery rise up as a picturesque creation.

Mrs. Knight's party was a most delightful affair, for the boy was quick to amalgamate her tasteful suggestions with his own instinctive elaboration, and the effect was delightful.

Mrs. Frank Rindge received considerable credit upon the fact that she has so recently handed over two sons to daughters-in-law. But they are such nice daughters-in-law that one is not really surprised. And both are likely to become hospitable hostesses this season. If half one hears is correct. There is something captivating about the bridal hostess—and it is those first months that establish a young matron in her place in the social scheme.

Miss Rhoda Rindge is to remain at home with her mother this winter, and she has accordingly returned from Wellesley, for which many friends give thanks.

Hostesses do not take their duties as seriously here as they do in Europe, where the grande dames are regarded as having an obligation to perform for society.

Those women who have wealth and position are certainly considered rather selfish, to say the least of it. They do not add to the gaiety of life. But many such mondaines are too naturally retreating to care for the social flights which this duty engenders, as in the case of Mrs. Edward Tufts, who honestly prefers her own quiet circle of friends, her home—and, incidentally, her husband.

She will, however, go out rather more this season on account of her pretty debutante daughter, Miss Marjorie Tufts, who will need no end of assiduous chaperoning.

This is to be a season of pretty debutantes, the last group of them every day, and one wonders anxiously where the eligible cavaliers are coming from. There is a great dearth of eligible bachelors.

But there is Dr. R. L. Cunningham, with chambers at the Alexandria, and a great reputation in the making, in addition to being rather a personable young man, who wears his clothes nicely, he is really a most desirable party.

And Dr. S. D. Block, young, good looking and exceedingly well placed in the world, he should certainly not be allowed to go free much longer.

This same gentleman bemoans the fact that his very last bachelor friend is now married offhand. He is positively the only single man left in his set. For weeks he has been trying to find an amiable bachelor to share his house and hearth and home and all that sort of thing, but nary a one shows up on the horizon. It is rather an appalling state of affairs.

Young Dr. Block cannot find an eligible bachelor, now on earth are all those charming debutantes going to fare?

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sartori are in town, as also are Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Elliot.

Wedding at "Maas Villa."

Miss Gertrude Frances Maas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Maas, was married Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, to Charles Spencer Machin of Pasadena, at the beautiful country home of the bride's parents, "Maas Villa," Alhambra. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. C. D. D. of the Holy Family Church of South Pasadena, in the music-room, which was made into a bower by the lavish use of pink enchantment carnations, smilax and pink tulle. All the appointments were carried out in pink and white, even to the dainty refreshment.

Proceeding the service, Mrs. Charles Louis Allen gave a vocal solo, and Miss Rose Calista played the wedding march, both ladies being from South Pasadena. Harry Machin, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride's traveling costume was a smart tailor-made suit of dark blue, with which she wore a large picture hat of black velvet, with green willow plumes. After November 1, the young couple will be at home to their friends, at their beautiful new bungalow, No. 1510 Hollins street, South Pasadena.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Coles, recently from Minneapolis, and Mr. Hack is a native son. The home was prettily decorated in carnations and lilies.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Blythe, No. 1043 West Thirty-fifth street, announced the engagement of their daughter, Carita Louise, to Elliott Decker Nichols, at a prettily appointed party given by another daughter, Miss Valrin, recently. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents in October. The home was artistically decorated with ferns and pink carnations, and in the dining-room, Cupid was suspended from the chandelier, holding a bunch of

SEEING THE COLLEGE ATHLETES.

BY OWEN BIRD.

Yesterday afternoon the Oxy Tiger rolled over and started on the first lap of the long race to "come back" into the old winning form, which made the black-and-orange warriors feared through the length and breadth of Southern California in times past.

It is a long race, and the men realize the size of the task confronting them this season, not only in football, but in track and baseball. When the thirty husky gridironers trotted on the field yesterday, one was struck with the serious mien of the men wearing the suit. Last year, the Tigers knew they were going up against a hard season, and were beaten before the season ever started, but now they look dangerous, as men who have everything to win and nothing to lose generally are.

There was none of this forecasting of doom yesterday on the campus, but all was business from the start, and Coach Pipal made a profound impression, both on the field and in his talk at the rally.

Before the team reported for the first practice, the student body gathered in the new gymnasium, where addresses were in order by the coach and Capt. Jim Smart. Pipal made a point when the big tiger's head on the wall was unveiled.

This tiger is so painted that no matter where you stand, his eye is on you, the coach said.

Let this be typical of the college spirit, to all the men who are in athletics. There is an eye on your labors which is greater than mine or any one man's—it is the entire student body, and all the men who have gone through the halls of this college and are now out in the world making a good fight all they can do is to sit in the bleachers and cheer. It is up to the man in the suit, and he wants to think long and well before he undertakes the task of representing his college and what it stands for.

This is about the best line of talk handed out this season and should bear fruit for the Tigers, in the games to come.

For the past three years Occidental has been on the down grade, but the worm is bound to turn some time, and this looks like the year. Barring accidents, the Highland Park veterans will not grace the near bottom of the conference heap when the final count is taken.

This is the second of a series of news articles to be written by Owen R. Bird on the outlook for the athletic year at the different Southern California colleges.

Now, laying aside all this oratory and such like flow, we must get down to brass tacks and look at the Tigers for the coming year.

In the first place, Pipal will not have an entirely green bunch to work with, as twelve of last year's varsity squad were on hand yesterday for the opening day, and, with a nucleus of old hands like this at the start, the new men will soon be welded into shape.

In fact, the squad went so well yesterday in the two hours of preliminary practice that Pipal announced that he would start running plays this afternoon, and by the first of next week scrimmage work would be in order. This is surely a flying start, but it is made possible by the fact mentioned above, of the old hands on the squad.

The men began to drift on the field at 3 o'clock, and ten minutes later the coach in a baseball cap and a tattered gray jersey, which looks as if it had seen service, called the men to the center of the field. Falling on the ball and forward passing were next in order, and the men were kept hard at it for half an hour.

After this Drury Wieman was put behind a center and set to punting to Seay and Henry, the two quarterbacks, while the entire line was sent down the field to tackle them. The evening ended with a short talk to the men on training and general football conduct.

Now a few words about the units composing the squad which will carry the Tiger emblem through the season.

Of course, Captain "Yahoo" Jim Smart was there a million, his big six foot four frame covered with muscle and sinew and rattling the team at 152 pounds in his birthday suit. Jim looks like a bad "hombr" this season; that is, if a Pomona man does the looking.

Drury Wieman, the great plunging back of last season, seemed to have all the old aggressiveness, while the bad knee, which bothered him last year, was not noticeable. Drury weighs an even 290, and is faster on his feet than ever before. With Bradbeer, the speedy half of last year, and Seafert, the new fullback from Pasadena High School, as co-workers, Wieman will cement one of the best back fields in the history of the South.

At quarterback Drury Seay looks like a sure bet. Last year he unfortunately broke his collarbone in the Redlands game, and was out of the running for the rest of the season. But the old wound is well and he is just as cool and fast as ever. "Demon" Henry, an understudy for this berth, will fill a long-felt want on the Oxy team, as each quarter has been hard to locate in the past.

Along the line we find at the end, Bruce Dill, Kirkpatrick, "Buster" Brown, Schoonover and Yabaley, all men with two years experience. The first three named look to be the most likely candidates for the wings this season.

Jim Smart and Harold Landreth, veterans of three years standing, will take care of the tackles without a shadow of doubt or turning. Both are mountains of strength on the defense and offense, and there is little more to ask of the two stars.

At the guards, Jones and Pfaffel, sophomores this year, seem to have great call on the positions alongside center.

They made good last season as freshmen, and there is no reason why they should not find something of a family riot, where the two Lane brothers, freshmen this year, coming from the academy last year, are fighting for a chance to wear the "Oxy" things look better for brother Paul, as he weighs 175 net, while Erick, only goes 155. Both are fighters, but the heavier man will likely win out, but Erick will be next in line unless some dark horse looms up in a week or so.

Now we have covered the team and filled the positions, in most cases with players who have had a good deal of experience.

Among the new possibilities in the "Fox Green" class, Seafert, the great full back from Pasadena High School, looks the part, and unless the dope is badly spoiled, will be cantoring around behind the line with Bradbeer and Wieman.

Paul Ritchie, hailing from the South Pasadena High School, might be developed into a good snh for the back field, but he needs trimming as freshmen generally do.

Others among this class are Hollenbeck, C. Johnson, B. L. Forster, Shinn, Strimede, and Gray, all good husky, willing boys.

It was formally announced last night that Occidental would meet Oregon some time in November for an interstate game, if the Oxy team turns out as good as it looks at the present reading of the archives, the fans will see something of the old style game, and will be able to draw a comparison with the rugby, which will be played by U.S.C. this fall.

It was easy to see that the new coach is for the open game while the started with the squad last night. He stated that the whole success of the team as a team, this season, would be in handling the ball.

"We are going to use the forward pass at every possible angle and other open plays in which hand handling of the ball will be absolutely necessary," said Pipal yesterday. Taking this statement as it stands we are going to see new football out in Highland Park, when the big games roll around.

Track and baseball are not much thought of at present, but the Tigers have a chance to make a big dent in the conference in both lines, as many of the freshmen have abilities either dormant or developed.

Full work in both games will be started at once with the close of the football season until then it would be hard to draw a definite line on the possibilities of the athletes for the cinder and diamond work.

Up there, they did everything to Vernon, but feed them arsenic in their soup at the hotel.

My correspondent says that the day of the big Sunday game, the field was so crowded that people were all over the diamond.

When the Haps were at bat, the crowd drew in on the base lines so Vernon couldn't have made more than two bases on a hit if they had knocked the ball a mile. Whenever Portland came to bat, on the other hand, the fans stood back and gave them plenty of room.

The insults that came from the grand stand to poor Hap and his men sounded like a drunken Saturday night in a sailor's boarding-house.

Every vile taunt that a ruffian brain could devise was showered on the Vernon men. It isn't to be wondered that Hap lost.

If they had showed any signs of winning, I guess they would have murdered them with pop bottles.

Hap is a good sport himself. When I asked him about it, he only looked uncomfortable and muttered something about Portland being "loyal to the home team."

Feed Horde Through Southern California.

Interesting Details of the Complex Circus Life.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

The old grouch tradition that the circus takes everything out of a town leaves nothing in return can be made true in Los Angeles. Ringling outfit will fold its tent and steal away this morning—gone now, for that matter—but $7000 has been deposited in Los Angeles by Edward A. L. Webb, supplies.

In Los Angeles which will feed a hungry horde in Santa Ana, San Bernardino, and as far as some things are concerned, clear to Houston, Tex.

Edward Webb's largest expenditure today was for $1150 worth of a beef.

Other items were $250 for fish, $500 for green vegetables, $750 for various purchased of one institution, some more hundreds for hay, of grain, and so on.

The shipping orders on these commodities take them to the three towns named.

At a wholesale house on Los Angeles street was practically cleared of coffee for Mr. Webb bought up to almost the season. This he shipped along, from day to day, in the circus at various points along its route.

The Ringling circus feeds and cares for all ways no less than 1200 people.

There is a store, a dispensary, and a man wants cigars or tobacco, a shirt, a suit of underwear, a bottle of oil, a bottle of proprietary medicine, or even a scientific prescription, he can get it the same day. He does not get it of his employer, but he buys it for less than any other store would sell it to him.

Ringling commissary, as a matter of fact, is a small staff at cost, in the small additional expense of variance and distribution. The commissary family figures that if a man takes a street car three miles to get to a place of work, he will better an extra hour or two, will forget to come back at all, in the case of a few who yield temptation, will fall into the hands of John Ringling. But any form is absolutely prohibited in the circus grounds.

The commissary department is in charge of the men's ninety professional cooks and waiters.

The food for all is about the same, on the tables of the colored stake-holders to the exclusive effort's mess, but the distinction is in the service. The standard ration—for dinner—consists of soup, two sorts of meat, an entree, two vegetables, coffee and dessert. A man can get as much or as little as he pleases.

There is a faint appetite, he can content himself with a few choice pickles, but he has a strong exercise in repelling or violating champagne has him the appetite of a Goliath.

He can have the whole menu once, or in part three times—no limit except stomach's.

This is part of the contract, for a circus proprietor not only undertakes a salary matter, but like a government caring for its army, shelter and food the whole satisfaction.

But if, after three meals a day, you still have an appetite, the circus proprietor gives up the ghost and provides a lunch counter, at which you may eat again, but at which you will have to pay.

This lunch counter is in reality a huge and completely stocked dairy store. Purchases are made in by cash book, the value of which is deducted from the salary, and all articles are but a single price—a cent, whether the article is a sandwich, green salad, a dish of ice cream, or coffee and doughnuts.

The huge tent dining-room is divided into various sections by curtains. Etiquette goes to great extremes within the bounds of these various grand divisions. The houses and their men—the laboring force—can dine with their coats off or their shoes off, it will make them more comfortable.

But among the officers, and among the performers, for a man to omit his coat when coming to the table means a fine of $5 for the first offense, and a heavier financial penalty for the second.

The proprietors undertake to act as banker for the laborer, but will not do so under any circumstances for the performer.

The laborer is paid a monthly salary, by check unless he prefers to have it in some other form. Scores of the older men with the circus, who understand the game thoroughly, and who go out regularly for the eight-month tour, leave their entire wages until the last day of the season. Then, having previously stowed away their accounts with the steward—they receive their bundles of checks, minus the amounts they have purchased in clothing, tobacco, medicine or lunch.

The performer is paid strictly upon a cash basis.

The treasurer of the company, bearing a valise full of greenbacks, visits the dressing tent every Tuesday night, and the performer receives his salary in cash. What he does with it, whether he saves it or spends it all the next day, is no concern of the management.

There is at least one Ringling with the show—at least there always has been, so far.

Yet the show is so organized that it practically feeds itself.

Thousands of dollars have been sent to New York through the local banks; and on the last day of the show's season that same metropolitan bank account will be tapped for more than $94,000.
